Preface

Most students and teachers think that the word "Worksheet" is a synonym for the word "Boring." We envision hours of sitting still at a desk-silent busy working for them and hours of grading for us. But worksheets still have a place in your classroom? In an age of open inquiry and problem-based learning, your child can still find power in a simple paper and pencil activity by practicing MENTORS BASKET WEEKLY worksheets.

Achievers Model bring to your child an opportunity to develop academically as well as for the competitive World. The Learning Process of every child is dependent on One's Ability to think logically and reason Quickly and effectively. These two factors are hence very crucial to a child's progress in education.

Mentors Basket Achievers weekly workbook covers Mental Math, Smart English, Enhance Self-Development Skills. These Powerful worksheets can help in building number sense, computational thinking, and problem-solving skills in your child at beginning of the foundational years. Every Month we would be providing 3 Workbook and 1 Challenge Workbook, each of these are designed at different levels and standard wise. We would be providing upgraded workbooks, that makes the child to look forward to challenges. Weekly Workbook would be consisting of the following content:

It is a unique way to provide differentiated brain-building work for different learners.

Strong Foundation Helps to Build Brighter Future

Design Framework

The Sample Workbook Consist of the topics as under:

- Mental Maths - We want our students to be able to understand content and concepts. We also want to stretch them to think and approach problems in new ways. This editable graphic organizer can help them do that! Challenge the students to solve a math problem more than one way. Have them explain how and why they solved it with their given strategy. Over time, we can see how mathematics can be transformed into a subject that is not only fun but also challenges students' creativity and independent thinking.
- Smart English - The study of English Language Arts, or speaking, listening, reading, and writing, is critical both to academic success and to life beyond school. Without the skills learned in language arts, students cannot achieve any kind of mastery in any of their coursework. Good communication skills are necessary for every career field, so these on-demand workbooks give your students the mixed review of grammar, spelling, and writing skills that will enable them to practice their language arts skills in a fun and diverting manner, ensuring that the skills they have learned will Supplement their language.
- Self – Development – Children who become invested in self-improvement at a young age will likely experience many advantages in life. But it can be a little tricky to figure out exactly how to go about teaching kids about self-improvement. We have developed strategies that can help children to be more confident and in becoming the best version of themselves.

The Magic of Rainbows

By Lydia Lukidis

Rainbows are multi-colored arcs that appear in the sky. They are made up of seven different colors. These colors are always in the same order. They are: red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, and violet. An easy way to remember them is by the name ROY G. BIV. The letters in the name stand for each color.

Rainbows are beautiful. But they are rare. They don't happen every day. You probably know that you need two things for a rainbow to form. You need light and water. Rainbows often happen when the sun comes out after it has rained. Or there could be water in the form of mist, spray, fog, and dew. But what makes all these wonderful colors appear?

You may think that sunlight is white light. This is half true. To our eyes, it does look white. But inside that light, there are other colors. Can you guess which ones? It's the seven colors of the rainbow! We can't see them with our eyes. When a beam of sunlight shines down, we see white light. But if that beam of light hits a raindrop at a certain angle, it bends. This is called reflection and refraction. When this happens, the colors that make up the beam separate. Then they form a rainbow.

Let's get a bit more scientific. Light acts like a wave that vibrates. Every color has its own wave. The colors slow down at different speeds when they go into the raindrop. When they get reflected, they bend at different angles. So the light that enters the raindrop is white. But when it exits, it is a different color. Each raindrop actually makes its own rainbow. And when there are many raindrops, they create a bigger rainbow that we can see.

These seven colors are also called the spectrum of light. It was the scientist Sir Isaac Newton who first discovered this. He figured out that white light contains these colors, and that this causes rainbows. He discovered this in 1672 when he conducted some experiments.

You may think a rainbow is an arc or a half-circle. But actually, a rainbow is a full circle of light. It just appears to be broken in half, because we are looking at it from the ground. A rainbow can't be touched either. It may look solid, but it is not a physical object.

Another fun fact about rainbows is that they're not located at a specific distance. If you try to follow or approach it, it won't get any closer. The rainbow will always be visible at the angle the raindrops bend the light. So don't try to chase a rainbow, because it's impossible!

1. Read the instruction carefully and make sentences, an example has been done for you.

Prepositional Phrases As Adjectives

A prepositional phrase is a group of words beginning with a preposition and ending with a noun or pronoun. The noun or pronoun at the end of the phrase is called the object of the preposition. Often there are other descriptive words between the preposition and its object.

Sometimes prepositional phrases do the job of an adjective. The prepositional phrase tells us which one.

example: The little boy in the red jacket is my brother, Henry.

In the red jacket is the prepositional phrase. In is the preposition, and jacket is the object. Red describes the jacket. The entire phrase, in the red jacket, tells us which boy.

Underline the prepositional phrase in each sentence below. Circle the word it describes.

1. My favorite place to walk is the park across the street.
2. The wooden bridge over the muddy creek was built last year.
3. Those trees beside the lake are willows.
4. The tall evergreen trees behind the playground are spruce trees.
5. The robin in the nest is watching her young.
6. The five frogs on the lily pads are catching dragonflies.
7. The dragonflies with shimmering wings zip away.
8. The squirrels with the bushy tails ran past me.
9. The grass beneath the swings is turning brown.
10. The park near my house is a special place.

❖ Now try this: Write your own sentence that has a prepositional phrase used as an adjective. Underline the prepositional phrase. Circle the word it describes.

CHOOSE YOUR ATTITUDE

Jerry is the manager of a restaurant. He is always in a good mood and always has something positive to say. When someone would ask him how he was doing, he would always reply, "If I were any better, I would be twins!"

Many of the waiters at his restaurant quit their jobs when he changed jobs, so they could follow him around from restaurant to restaurant. The reason the waiters followed Jerry was because of his attitude. He was a natural motivator. If an employee was having a bad day, Jerry was always there, telling the employee how to look on the positive side of the situation.

Seeing this style really made me curious, so one day I went up to Jerry and asked him, "I don't get it! No one can be a positive person all of the time. How do you do it?" Jerry replied, "Each morning I wake up and say to myself, I have two choices today. I can choose to be in a good mood or I can choose to be in a bad mood. I always choose to be in a good mood. Each time something bad happens, I can choose to be a victim or I can choose to learn from it. I always choose to learn from it. Every time someone comes to me complaining, I can choose to accept their complaining or I can point out the positive side of life. I always choose the positive side of life." But it's not always that easy," I protested. "Yes, it is," Jerry said. "Life is all about choices. When you cut away all the junk, every situation is a choice. You choose how you react to situations. You choose how people will affect your mood. You choose to be in a good mood or bad mood. It's your choice how you live your life."

Several years later, I heard that Jerry accidentally did something you are never supposed to do in the restaurant business: left the back door of his restaurant open one morning and was robbed by three armed men. While trying to open the safe, his hand, shaking from nervousness, slipped off the combination. The robbers panicked and shot him. Luckily, Jerry was found quickly and rushed to the hospital. After 18 hours of surgery and weeks of intensive care, Jerry was released from the hospital with fragments of the bullets still in his body.

I saw Jerry about six months after the accident. When I asked him how he was, he replied, "If I were any better, I'd be twins. Want to see my scars?" I declined to see his wounds, but did ask him what had gone through his mind as the robbery took place. "The first thing that went through my mind was that I should have locked the back door," Jerry replied. "Then, after they shot me, as I lay on the floor, I remembered that I had two choices. I could choose to live or choose to die. I chose to live." "Weren't you scared?" I asked. Jerry continued, "The paramedics were great. They kept telling me, 'I was going to be fine.' But when they wheeled me into the Emergency Room and I saw the expressions on the faces of the doctors and nurses, I got really scared. In their eyes, I read ‘He’s a dead man.’ I knew I need to take action.” What did you do?” I asked. “Well, there was a big nurse shouting questions at me,” said Jerry. “She asked if I was allergic to anything.” ‘Yes,’ I replied. The doctors and nurses stopped working as they waited for my reply. I took a deep breath and yelled, ‘Bullets!’ Over their laughter, I told them, ‘I am choosing to live. Please operate on me as if I am alive, not dead’.”

Jerry lived thanks to the skill of his doctors, but also because of his amazing attitude. I learned from him that every day you have the choice to either enjoy your life or to hate it. The only thing that is yours that no one can control or take from you is your attitude, so if you can take care of that everything else in life becomes much easier.

What did you learn from Jerry?
